

Coaches,

A couple of more schools dropped out so it has been a scramble to cover all the events. Thank you to all schools picking up a new event and a special thank you to Camas High School from Washington, they are running three “official” event, helping some of the other schools from Washington with their events, and two trial events.

Team numbers: I have changed a couple of schools team number, I have tried to email coaches when I do it, but I have been a bit overwhelmed with the number of schools who have dropped out so I know I missed one or two. Please double check the website for your team number.

Payment: The $150 per team is still coming in. As I get confirmation, I update the website. Snail mail, takes a bit longer. If you are worried about payment that was sent in a while ago, please contact us. On a potentially related note, remember to include your school name with your payment (there is a spot if you pay via credit card).

My hope is that there is no more changes to the roster of teams attending and all the events are covered.

If you have any question, please email me.
